ANOTHER TRACY IMITATOR.

Trains are no longer traveling on their speed, but on their beauty. The passenger is informed not that it is a faster train, but a more elegant serv-ice. Each road is looking for someice. Each road is looking for something the other road cannot furnish.
They have reduced the time, and in the chase for new features to allure the traveler, the agent endeavors to dazzie the passenger with the splendor of the system. The Rio Grande was among the first to work upon the artistic sensibilities and impress the castern world with the importance and magnificence of the scenic charms along its line. Other roads followed suit. But scenic enchantments and time reducers are losing their prestige. The public is camoring for something new and the railroads are bending every energy to gratify the whim. It is not necessary to turn to the transcontinental traveling palaces whim. It is not necessary to turn to the transcontinental traveling palaces for assurances of this fact. It is evident in the varnished woods and plush upholstery of the ordinary coaches on it he local lines. Luxury, comfort and splendor appeal to indolence from baggage car to parlor coach.

True, the passengers of the Oregon Short Line are not yet regaled with the luxurious extravagance that was to electrify the passengers of Vice President Paul Morton's swell Santa Fe club train between Los Angeles, club train between Los Angeles, San Francisco and Chicago. Nor have the passengers of the Rio Grande been startled by the electrical splendors that have characterized the service of the Southern Pacific for the past few weeks to and from San Francisco. But the boast has been made that before the end of another season the sumptu-ous elegance of the service between Chicago and New York will be surby the magnificence of the systems of the west

It is announced that the Santa Fe has already ordered the new equipment that is to supplant the equipment of its limited service between San Francisco and Chicago. The order with the Pullman company alone calls for the Fullman company alone calls for seventy of the handsomest and costli-est cars that money can buy, and the estimated cost of the entire equipment will exceed $1.000,000. The immense traffic consequent upon

(Special to The Herald.)

Boise, Ida., Aug. 9.—Governor Hunt and J. H. Hawley held a prolonged conference today in the governor's office and it is reliably reported that the two came to an understauding respecting. Mr. Hawley hely a candidacy for the senatorship. It is said Governor Hunt assured Mr. Hawley he would not oppose him and that the latter went away perfectly satisfied. Some friction between the Hunt and theirfeld forces has developed, and the understanding between them and Heitfeld forces has developed, and the understanding between Hunt and Hawley will only serve to intensify it.

The Owyhee county Republican convention elected delegates today, but did not instruct them. It is understood that a majority of the delegates are for Morrison for governor. The Democrats of Owyhee also held a convention today and instructed the delegates to the state convention 40 vote for Hunt for governor and for E. L. Ballard of Silver City for state auditor.

Cabinet Changes.

London, Aug. 9.—The new cabinet list, which involves the resignation of Sir J. Gorst, vice president of the board of edu-cation; Lord Raglan, parliamentary sec-retary to the war office, and Jesse Colilings, parliamentary secretary to the home office, tends to show that Premier Balfour is experiencing considerable difficulty, and probably obstruction as well, in the restrangement of the ministry, which evidently is still incomplete. There are still many anticipated resignations and promotions.

with these are connected the names of the Earl of Halsbury, Lord George Ham-ilton, secretary of state for India; Vis-count Cranborne, under secretary to the foreign office; Gerald Balfour, president of the board of trade, and others who have not yet been announced.

Elks' Official Organ.

Among those in the party are a number of men who are prominent in public and political life. Among these men is R. F. Eldridge, editor of the "Jolly Elk," the official organ of the order. Mr. Eldridge comes from St. Paul. Minn. He has been in the newspaper business since his boyhood days, and his paper has made him one of the most prominent Elks in the order. The paper is noted for being one of the newsiest fraternal publications in the country, and it is considered authority upon all things connected with Elkdom. Mr. Eldridge says he expects to see not less than 25,000 Elks in this city by tomorrow night.

He was bathing, in company with a brother who is blind, when he took cramps and sank.

His brother heard him call, and getting into the boat in which they had rowed up the river, tried to go to the rescue, but could not find him.

The blind brother then floated down the river and gave the alarm, and after a two hours' search the body was raised with grappling hooks. Walter Ross was the son of John L. Ross of this city, and one of the most prominent young men of the city.

How can parents look upon such little sufferers and not reproach themselves for bringing so much misery into the world? If you have any disease lurking in your system, how can you expect well developed, healthy children? Cleanse your own blood and build up your health, and you have not only enlarged your capacity for the enjoyment of the pleasures of life, but have discharged a duty all parents owe to posterity, and made mankind healthier and happier.
